

ANDY ROBINSON

D.O.B:
03.04.1964

POSITION:
Scotland Head
Coach

EXPERIENCE:
Guest Speaker

- 2009 – Present: Scotland Head Coach
- 2007 – 2009: Edinburgh Rugby Head Coach
- 2004 – 2006: England Head Coach
- 2000 – 2004: England Coach (helped England win the 2003 World Cup)
- 2001 and 2005: British and Irish Lions Coach
- 1997 – 2000: Bath Head Coach
- 1996 – 1997: England U21 Coach
- 1995: Retired from International Rugby
- 1989: British and Irish Lions tour and European Player of The Year
- 1988: England Debut

As a player Andy was an extremely competitive open-side flanker for Bath, England and the British & Irish Lions. He then went onto coaching Bath and was appointed forwards coach for England for the World Cup winning side of 2003. He was head coach of England between 2004 & 2006 before resigning and going up to Edinburgh as head coach in the summer of 2007. In his first season, he guided Edinburgh to their highest ever finish by a Scottish side in the Magners league (joint 3rd).

Andy was made head coach of the Scotland Rugby team in June 2009 and has since led them to famous wins over Argentina, Australia and Ireland as well as the recent victory against the World Champions South Africa. Scotland go in the World Cup confident after 2 victorious warm up matches.