Ben Foden has fulfilled all expectations emerging as a true star of English rugby. Having cemented his place in the England squad during a victorious 6 Nations Campaign in 2011 and Rugby World Cup in New Zealand, Ben is once again bound to feature heavily in retaining the Championship in 2012.

His star qualities don't stop on the pitch, as he finds himself in the limelight due to his high profile relationship with Una Healy of the girl band 'The Saturdays.' After all this he still remains grounded and focused, a vital balance that Ben has always successfully maintained. Having returned from the World Cup, Ben has come back to Northampton with a bang, being in scintillating try scoring form. Once again, proving himself as one of the most powerful and attacking full-backs in the game, looking to set alight the 2012 6 Nations Championship.
