After playing a pivotal role for England during this summer, it is a great loss that injury has ruled Danny out of competing at this years Rugby World Cup. In addition to his international accolades, he has had an extremely successful season with Harlequins, one highlight includes winning the Amlin Cup Final in dramatic style.

Danny is as much of a success off the pitch as he is on it, he has an extremely loyal fan base with both England and Harlequins and is undoubtedly one of the most charismatic players in both teams. He has come out with glowing reviews from his recent punditry and is a dream to work with for any brand or company. With 32 caps to his name, Danny is constantly improving and continues to embody everything you need in a young, sporting role model.
