After picking up a wealth of experience and knowledge in the UK, Jim brought his 14 year stint in the country to an end and moved to the Queensland Reds as assistant manager in 2009. With previous posts at Henley Hawks, Birmingham and Rotherham, Jim also fulfilled the role of Head Coach at the Cornish Pirates in 2004. During his reign, he guided the Pirates to their highest ever finish of third and fourth in National League One and Energy National Trophy Champions at Twickenham in 2007. In 2008 Jim took up a coaching role within the Academy set-up at Leicester Tigers, developing the likes of Ben Youngs, Dan Cole and Toby Flood. After joining the Reds, Jim continues to be an instrumental figure in the success of the team where they won the Super 15's in 2011, only 3 years after sitting 13th in the table.

Away from the field Jim has a passion for surfing, bike riding, reading and learning. An extremely modest man who always ensures his players take full credit for their on field success, Jim is a gentleman both on and off the field.
